ČESKY, PROSÍM START

The introductory (A1.1) volume for the Česky, prosím textbook series is intended as supplementary material for the beginning stages of language instruction. It focuses on practicing the sound and written components of the language at a slower pace and can serve as an introductory course for other textbooks of Czech for foreigners or as an independent writing exercise book in combination with any textbook of Czech as a foreign language. It is intended mainly for those learners who have not mastered the Roman alphabet and for whom Czech is the first foreign language they study, or for those who have difficulties with learning a foreign language (dyslectics, dysgraphics) or they are learning to both read and write in Czech as they have not been fully alphabetized. The study material is designed for a minimum of 50 lessons. The publication also contains a CD with listening exercises and a workbook.

Česky, prosím is based on state of the art international methods of instruction and information on the Czech language. It offers a communicative approach, with no mediating language, in an attractive graphic layout facilitating natural language acquisition.

Inspired by modern language textbooks (Headway, Themen), the textbook systematically develops all language skills. It emphasizes dialogue with respect to everyday speech. One of key advantages for students and teachers is proven compatibility with CEFR and relevant exam levels.

The series was prepared in co-operation with Charles University departments focusing on long-term support for the instruction of Czech in the Czech Republic and abroad (Institute for Language and Preparatory Studies, ÚJOP).

- Excellent choice of everyday communicative situations
- Accessible and truly fresh approach to language and teaching
- Pre-tested by students and teachers
- Continual support and feedback for the whole textbook series (+cooperation with Czech Centres, cultural and language teaching institutions abroad)
- Well suited for English as well as non-English markets

Dr. Jitka CVEJNOVÁ has been teaching Czech as a Foreign Language at prestigious institutions in Czech Republic and abroad since 1982. She is a leading author of contemporary theories and methods in Czech language teaching, a key author of testing systems for migrants and applicants for permanent residency, and an active long-term participant in the reference description for Czech within the Common European Framework.

ČESKY, PROSÍM I

The first part of a new set of modern communication-based textbooks of Czech as a foreign language is intended for beginners, both young adults and adults. The author's extensive experience with intensive language classes and introducing foreign learners to the Czech Republic has enabled her to enrich the book with valuable socio-cultural context of all particularities of the use of Czech. The publication consists of two volumes – a textbook and a workbook, including sections of grammar overview, dictionary and audio download. The continuation of the series through higher levels enables its use in short-term and long-term classes. Česky, prosím is the only textbook which is consequently based on the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages; the content of the first level complies with the demands for the European Certificate CCE – level A1.
